An End to Bone Reraping. Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. I have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctors told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well." Electric Bitters are sold 40 cents a bottle, and Bucklen's Arnica Salve at 25 cents per box by S. J. Hodgkinson & Co's.

Happiness and Health. Are important problems, the former depending greatly on the latter. Everyone is familiar with the healthy properties of fruit, and no one can afford to be sick and miserable while the pleasant California concentrated liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs, may be had of our enterprising druggist, Wm. Pinniger, Reno, Nev.

Spaying in Arizona.

For the first time in the history of stock-raising in Arizona, says the Hoof and Horn, the spaying of cows has been resorted to. The parties to first call the knife to their assistance in this direction is the Erie Cattle Company, of Cochise county, one of the largest stock-growing concerns in the Territory, and one which, until a very short time ago, was credited with possessing all the range facilities it might want for its stock for years to come. The announcement therefore, that it has let a contract for the spaying of one thousand cows, marks the entrance of a new feature into the economy of beef producing in the Territory. It means in effect that over-stocking has ceased to be a mere subject for discussion, and has instead become a tangible and well defined evil that must be met and overcome, even to the extent of limiting the productive capacity of the stock, a class which until recently were valued more highly on account of this very power of reproduction that is now sought to destroy. While the operation of spaying is almost unknown in Arizona, but a very faint conception of the vast number of animals that have been subjected to it, is entertained by even the best informed of stockmen. An eminent authority in recently speaking on this subject made the statement that not less than fifty thousand heifers were spayed so far during the present year, a number which seems incredibly large when it is remembered that spaying as applied to range cattle has hardly a record beyond 1885, although in European countries, and France especially, it has been practiced extensively for years, being used on all cows to prepare them for the butcher, and on dairy cattle which thereafter milk well for a few years, and then become very fat and make beef of excellent quality. The popularity which spaying is destined to achieve will be great. Through it the strain on ranges can be reduced to a minimum, while the production of beef can be raised to the highest possible point. The risk attending it is almost nominal. Sparks & Tinnin, the cattle kings of Idaho and Nevada, report having spayed 4,000 heifers during the last Summer, and claim to have lost out of that number but two or three animals, a percentage of loss almost as small as that attending the universal custom of branding.

Beware of the Bull

The man who handles stock carelessly invites death, says an exchange. Cows and horses generally are harmless, but no one should ever get into the habit of going among cattle and horses without being on his guard. Habit is about all there is to it; and if we get into the habit of being careless we shall likely be so when handling bulls or horses with a tendency to viciousness. The vast majority of disastrous assaults by bulls are the direct result of bad management and carelessness. We have always found that firmness and mildness will manage the average bull; but it is folly for any man to be unguarded when about a bull. They are always dangerous, and the fact should be recognized. Horns or no horns, we should be on our guard. And when an animal of any kind is desperately vicious it is folly to keep it. Human life is too precious to thus expose it.

Utah's Cattle.

The time for owning large herds of cattle to roam at will, is rapidly waning, says the Salt Lake Enterprise. The encroachment of the locator of valley land has changed the winter feeding ground to such an extent that the question of getting the herds through the winter even in the southern portion of the Territory, is a serious one. Many, seeing the certain outcome, began last year to sow alfalfa, which as a winter feed, has no superior, and also gives the cattle owner fat cattle for the early Spring market instead of a herd of moving skeletons. Fifty acres of alfalfa will return at least 200 tons of winter feed, which will keep in good condition 300 cattle. The cattle question is no longer one of Summer range in Utah, but has resolved itself into "how many cattle can be fed through the winter?" Doing away with the roaming system all the year round, the result will prove of undoubted benefit to the winter feeder, and consequently to Utah cattle interests.

The Assessor of Alturas county, Idaho, reports 50,000 cattle.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1887

"PROF. YOUNG should resign his office," should he? What for? Of two crimes he is guilty and only two. One of these is that at the Reno depot before leaving for Washington he promised Powning to do all he could to help him out of his disgraceful scrape with the U. S. Land Office; the other, that after getting to Washington and finding out how grossly had been abused the Surveyor General's office and what a prejudicial effect this misuse of power had on the action of the Interior Department in the approval of Nevada lands the Agent did not repudiate his promise and come straight home to tell the whole story to the people, the innocent sufferers of the ex-Surveyor General's alleged malfeasance in office. It is not because of a lack of time that the Land Agent now hesitates to go to Washington, but rather because he dreads to meet the Secretary of the Interior, the Land Commissioner and the Chief of the Land Department and to be classed with, and be confronted with questions about, an ex-U. S. Surveyor General whom they think to be the chief of a ring of Nevada land thieves. No, Powning, take down your dirty linen which is strung around the Interior Department and wash it; deodorize those bundles of reports which three years ago left the office of Nevada's Surveyor General for the U. S. Land Office and which the Department officials think were written by a rascally hand; erase the unsavory name of Powning from the twenty pages of the Carson land records, on each page of which is written "suspended;" relinquish your claim to that thirty thousand acres in Elko, Humboldt and Lander counties to which you have neither legal nor moral right; pay back to the Government the expenses of that special agent which came out here all the way from Washington to investigate your official record and who reported against you; give to the State your note, with approved security, for $10,000, the amount which within the past three years this State should have received, and has not received, in interest on the principal from the sale of lands, and for which losses to the State the people who are in a position to know believe you chiefly responsible; yes, Powning, make these amends to the State and on to-morrow morning's train bright and early, and proud of being a representative of the landed interests of honest-loving Nevada the Land Agent will start for Washington. More, the Land Agent will offer himself as a hostage, hypothecate as it were his very existence, that every acre of land honestly surveyed and honestly selected will then in an incredibly short space of time be approved, the school fund replenished and the honor of the State redeemed.

Powning, there is another reason why Young fears to leave Reno at this time. He wouldn't get further than Wadsworth on his way before you would conclude that absent he couldn't defend himself and would hurl into his back one of your poisoned arrows of envy; you would again go the Governor, as doubtless you have recently done, and whine and blubber and beg him to "fire" Young out any way; you would say that he is a "fenderfoot in Reno" and now had deserted his home having no longer any interest in it; you would run from one store to another and from one business man to another with gossip about the "fenderfoot;" you would, in short, try to prejudice the whole community, as doubtless you have recently done, against patronizing the GAZETTE, representing that it's a foreign institution while the "Journal is Reno's best girl;" you would misrepresent Young as you have tried to misrepresent the motives of Preble & Young, by saying that "Young has gone to California and Preble is already there;" you would say that Young had become a citizen of Washington as you have tried to make Reno people believe that Preble and Young had taken up their residence in California when you knew that they have no more intention of doing so than you have of telling the truth about their business movements.

Again, Powning, you held the office of U. S. Surveyor General for four long years here at Reno, receiving a salary of $2,500 a year, or a total salary of $10,000, with a chrono in the shape of 30,000 acres of land thrown in. Of course you were "bounced," Powning, but it was for cause, you know, and our great President Cleveland did it and not Nevada's little salaried Land Agent. As compared with the salary of your fat office Young receives the mere pittance of $80 a month, paying out of this his traveling and other expenses, all of which $80 in amount he has already expended in trying to solve a problem which you suggest might have been solved "six months ago" by the Land Agent, and which the Land Agent thinks would have been solved three years ago if you had made a clean record as Surveyor General. You express great confidence in the ability of the Land Agent to accomplish wonders for Nevada if only he were in Washington; the Land Agent thinks in common with the masses of the people, to say nothing of being qualified for the position of Surveyor you didn't when you were in office, and don't now, so much as know the difference between a solar transit and a charm compass on a watch chain. Now really, Powning, in view of the facts and in all sincerity, don't you think you are in small business to commence this attack on Young's little salary of $80 per month? Don't you think it would better become a self-constituted statesman like yourself, or a distinguished banker as you are known in this community to be, to give to the bank of which you assume to be the chief the benefit of your great experience as a financier and let Young have his little $80 per month? The Governor has made no complaint; the Selecting Agent has made no complaint; no one else who knows the facts and just what the Land Agent has expended out of his own private means to accomplish what surprising results he has accomplished has offered any complaint. In the name of what few friends you now have and the many friends whom you have lost by just such purile conduct as this why do you insist on being a meddling baby when to be a man is so much nobler?

The Bank of England doors are now so finely balanced that a clerk, by pressing a knob under his desk, can close the outer doors instantly, and they cannot be opened again except by special process. This is done to prevent the daring and ingenious unemployed of the metropolis from robbing the bank. The bullion department of this and other banks are nightly submerged several feet in water by the action of the machinery. In some banks the bullion department is connected with the manager's sleeping room, and an entrance cannot be effected without shooting a bolt in the dormitory, which in turn sets in motion an alarm. If a visitor during the day should happen to knock off one from a pile of half sovereigns the whole pile would disappear, a pool of water taking its place.

SENATOR STEWART is "digging up" what will be worth $25,000 a year to Reno; offers to be one of the guarantors to raise $20,000 more with which to benefit our State University. Yet the Journal is permitted to insult the venerable Senator every time he passes through the town. Wouldn't it be well for the refined people of Reno to organize themselves into a "society of good manners," to teach the well known "ink slinger" a few lessons in common politeness towards deserving public officials?

Train Robbers Get $40,000.

LITTLE ROCK, Dec. 10.—The north bound passenger train on the St. Louis Arkansas and Texas railroad was boarded last night by three masked men at Genoa, a small station ten miles from Arkansas. They mounted the engine and compelled the engineer to stop at a dense wood, two miles from the station.
The robbers then broke in the express-car door, overpowered the messenger and forced him to unlock the safe, from which they secured $40,000 and escaped into the forest without disturbing the passengers or mail agent.

Conductor Nichols made several attempts to get out and protect the express matter, but the robbers' Winchester soon drove him back.

The Governor has offered $200 reward and the express company $500 each for the capture of the men.

The whole country surrounding the scene of the robbery has been alive today with posse scouting for them. The authorities feel confident they will ultimately capture them.

Toss Out To-night.

All interested in establishing a public library should turn out to the meeting at Armory Hall this evening. The object is to provide a reading room, into which all can enter, and while away time pleasantly and profitably. From a small beginning the Engineers and Mechanics' Library at Wadsworth has grown into one of the best institutions of the kind in the State. Reno, by concerted effort, have a reading room and library that will be second to none in the State, and its influence for good cannot now be estimated.

OUR STATE UNIVERSITY.

Successful Work in its Behalf by Senator Stewart—Proposes to be One of the Guarantors of a Fund to Erect a Boarding Hall.

UNITED STATES SENATE, WASHINGTON, D. C. Dec. 5, 1917.
EDITOR GAZETTE—Sir: The published interview with me, appearing in your paper of the 21st ult., in regard to the State University, was not in all respects what I intended to say. I, by no means, wish to be understood as not being willing to do all in my power to secure Government aid for our University, but I did desire to call attention to the fact that the location of the University adjoining a cemetery was very unfortunate, and the selection of such a location displayed on the part of those making it, either great carelessness or utter disregard of the interests of the University.

Congress has appropriated $15,000 per annum for each agricultural college which maintains an experimental station. Such a station is in fact a small experimental farm. Twenty acres of land is entirely inadequate for the purpose of the University and an experimental station.

The cemeteries on the northwest of Reno, and to the westward of the town, are very objectionable, and if Reno becomes a city of any importance (which by its location and natural advantages it seems certain to be), these cemeteries, if continued in their present location, must necessarily be very injurious to health, and in the meantime they will greatly retard the growth of the town, for persons desiring healthy homes will never select the low side of a burying ground.

There can be no doubt that one of the causes which has impaired the healthfulness of San Francisco is the location of its cemeteries, and every thoughtful man in that city now recognizes the necessity of selecting some other place for burial purposes.

I suggested, and again desire to repeat my suggestion to the people of Reno, that it would be wise in them to select cemetery grounds at once a reasonable distance from the town and on the side from which the prevailing winds would not convey the gases arising from the cemetery into the homes of the people. If this were done and no more interments allowed to be made in the present grounds the evil would be remedied. After a time the bodies interred in the ground immediately west of the University could be removed and the land sold to the State.

These suggestions involve no considerable expense, and if acted upon will extricate the University from its embarrassment and avoid the necessity of removing it for sanitary reasons, and obtain the necessary room for conducting the institution.

In the meantime I hope that such preliminary steps will be taken to establish an experimental station as to enable us to obtain the $15,000 appropriated for that purpose. I had an interview with the Commissioner of Agriculture since my arrival, and he informs me that the money is available as soon as an experiment station is established at our University.

One of the pressing needs of the University is a building for the accommodation of the young lady students. They must have a home at the University and be under the supervision of the female teachers. Like accommodations will also be required for the male students, but that can be deferred until the meeting of the Legislature. As soon as it is definitely settled that the cemeteries will be removed a building for the accommodation of the lady students should be erected. I see no necessity for delaying action in that matter until an appropriation can be obtained from the Legislature. If a suitable number of citizens—say from fifty to one hundred responsible persons—would unite in a guarantee, it seems that money ought to be borrowed at reasonable interest until the Legislature can make an appropriation. Twenty thousand dollars would be sufficient to erect a building large enough for present purposes.

I would take pleasure in becoming one of the guarantors if such a scheme was regarded as advisable. Yours truly,

WM. M. STEWART.

A Triple Alliance.
Unhappily for the wretched victim of their assaults, dyspepsia, constipation and biliousness are faithful allies. When one of these foes attack the system, the other two speedily follow in its wake, and successfully make their onslaught. Successively, but not successfully, if Hostetter's Stomach Bitters be used to repel the onset. The Bitters easily extirpates these monsters. St. George is depicted in the act of doing to the dragon in the steel vignette upon the glass bottles which contain the medicine. Their flight, like their advance, is nearly simultaneous. They mutually destroyed, they precipitately retreat, leaving health master of the position and strongly entrenched by the Bitters. This grand fortifier is also a reliable bulwark against the insidious assaults of malarial disease, and stops the approach of rheumatism. It more-over relieves nervous complaints, and imparts vigor to the weak.

IDAHO ITEMS.

A Budget of Interesting Items from Our Northern Neighbor.
OWYHEE COUNTY, I. T.

EDITOR GAZETTE—Sir: The December storms are driving the cattle out of the mountains to their winter range on Snake river, where thousands of cattle and horses can be seen grazing upon the white sage which grew much better than was predicted by the stockmen on account of the dry season, and if there is an ordinary winter, the losses will be light in this portion of the country. Some of the stockmen have adopted the wise plan of weaning their calves. Mr. Somercamp, of the firm of Somercamp & Doll, at Squaw Creek, has weaned between three and four hundred already, and is still weaning more.

The weather has been exceedingly fine this fall. There have been no storms till the first of December. About two inches and a half of snow fell in the mountains, which has started the stock out of mountains. The sheep can be seen by the thousands headed for their winter range. Were it not for these intruders the cattle would make it all right, but they run the cattle out of their summer feed and eat up the winter range, so it is almost impossible for other stock to go through the winter without being fed, and this not being a hay country, there is but a very limited amount of stock feed.

We have just arrived from Vale, Or., the seat of Malheur county, where we have been attending the trial of John Strode and John Thurmen. The Circuit Court met on November 21st. The first case brought into court was an indictment against Al Jones, charged with horse stealing. The jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

Next the case of Thomas Harmon was tried for cattle stealing. The young man was bound over till the next term of court, his bonds being put at $500. The trial of Strode and Thurmen has proved to be the most interesting trial that Malheur county ever witnessed. After the case was argued the jury retired, and in thirteen minutes brought in a verdict of not guilty, the prisoners being released immediately after their went up. It seems to have been a conspiracy made by the sheepmen to get shut of Strode, and it is generally supposed that this O. B. Hanes was hired to do this and then to lay it on to Strode and Thurmen, and if such is the case the prosecuting witness, Ory B. Hanes, should be dealt with to the full extent of the law.

December 6, 1917.
PROTECTING THE INDIANS.
The Interior Department issues a Circular in their Behalf. From time immemorial, as it were, there has been a disposition on the parts of the whites, to disregard any claims or rights of the Indians. Time and again the general Government has called out a portion of the army to protect the reservations. The Interior Department has sent out a circular to the Registers and Receivers and U. S. Surveyor-Generals, which may be of interest to some who have their eyes on the homes of some of the more enterprising of the national race, ready to pounce upon them at the first opportunity. The circular substantially states that, in order that the homes and improvements of Indians who have settled on non-reservation land and are occupying them, and are making an effort to support themselves, are to be protected, and the officials are required to ascertain by whatever means they can whether any lands in their several districts are so occupied, and to prohibit entries and filings upon any such lands. The Surveyor-Generals are instructed especially to refuse their duties to any and every white man or Indian occupant in their returns of surveys hereafter made or reported, and to have the same expressed on the plats. These instructions savor of justice, and will encourage many of the dusky sons to make homes for themselves and their posterity.

Good for Cattle.
One of our ranchers, says the Austin Reveille, has made a preparation which he intends to plaster over his cattle to protect them from the cold. It is made of tar, red clay, and lard oil, and he claims that the mixture forms a glue on the hide of the animal which is impervious to water and acts as a blanket to keep the wind from chilling the stock. He is going to gather up his cattle and coat them with it.

Minnie Sheridan, a waitress in a Eureka bar saloon, died in convulsions last Saturday. It is suspected that she was dosed and robbed, as money known to be in her possession a few days before could not be found among her effects.

An honest actor is the noblest work of God. Ed. Harrigan, now in New York, has sent the GAZETTE money in payment of an advertising bill, contracted during his visit to Reno, and which this office failed to present at the proper time. As a rule traveling theatrical troupes "hog it" all, but Mr. Harrigan is evidently not cast in that mould, as his action proves.

For Sale.

$30,000. Mrs. Howard offers her 100-acre ranch for sale. The ranch is on the Virginia road, the most beautiful of all the country roads in Nevada. It is located eight miles from Reno and in a fertile agricultural section. The ranch consists of about 60 acres and a valuable water right. The ranch has long had the reputation of being one of the most productive of its size of all the ranches in the Truckee Meadows. The ranch has produced 500 tons of hay, pasture for 200 head of stock, vegetables and other products in value about $2,000. By the expenditure of a few hundred dollars the ranch could be made to be even much more productive than it is at present. The soil is admirably adapted to the raising of alfalfa, stock and vegetables. It has an excellent house, barn and other buildings, a good orchard and other improvements. Price, $30,000; cash and the remainder in five equal annual installments. Interest at 8 per cent. per annum.

$13,650. A. Banta's ranch located about five miles south-east from Reno is offered for sale. It consists of 45 acres, which will be sold at $300 per acre, or for $13,650 and on easy terms of payment. There is on the place a good house of eight rooms, two barns and other buildings. The place has plenty of fine irrigating water and as many as fifty springs of excellent drinking water. The ranch yielded this year about $1,000 and the pasture valued at not less than $150. The total value of this year's yield is not less than $1,150, and some one year's yield has amounted to as much as $2,000. As the ranch consists chiefly of pasture and meadow land, the expense of raising the place is exceedingly small. The ranch is especially desirable as a stock ranch and for this purpose would yield a handsome profit on the amount invested.

FOR SALE.—Lots 11, 12 and 13, in Block 4, Nevada Addition, south side of river. Very desirable location. House of two rooms (hard finished) and shed; lots cleared; also, each $500 a bargain.

$300. Lot 12, 175 feet, on the Virginia road, a very desirable location, and the best lot in Reno for the price. Perfect title; ditch flows through the property.

80 ACRES OF LAND under improvement; good buildings and fence; 75 acres in alfalfa; choice orchard—600 bearing fruit; situated in Reno; good well. Situated 1/2 mile from the C.P. railroad depot, Reno.

FOR SALE.—House and lot on east side of Virginia street, one door north of Fourth street; lot 10 by 140 feet. A very desirable place of property.

FOR SALE.—Lot 12, 175 ft. by 140 ft., on east side of Virginia street, opposite residence of E. E. Ward. This is a very desirable place of property.

40 ACRES OF LAND. 26 acres in alfalfa; 1500 forest trees, all under fence. Situated in Reno; good well. Situated 1/2 mile from the C.P. railroad depot, Reno.

560 ACRES. 100 acres enclosed by a substantial fence; 50 acres under cultivation; balance wild land—good for pasture. Will cut 500 tons alfalfa this year. Two acres of young and bearing orchard; good seed land. Perfect title to 560 acres of water.

New two-story house of three rooms hard-finished; good barn. Situated 1/2 mile from Reno. Price, $400—$2,000 down, balance on time at reasonable interest.

3,000 ACRES under substantial fence. ABUNDANCE OF WATER FOR IRRIGATION. 300 acres in wheat, barley and alfalfa. Controls an immense outside range for cattle or sheep.

200 WORTH OF HORSES, MARES AND COLTS. All kinds of farming utensils. Machinery, wagons, blacksmith shop, etc. Plenty of water close by. Ranch lies 30 miles south of Austin. This would make one of the best stock ranges in the State. Price, $15,000. Easy terms of payment given.

Also several large properties in Truckee Meadows; properties at Stockton, San Jose, San Francisco and Alameda. Mines bought and sold. The firm has numerous correspondents who are dealers in mining property.

THE BIGGS & FARIS RANCH.
One of the Finest Bodies of Land in California.

THIS PROPERTY CONSISTS OF 1,937 ACRES OF LAND SITUATED IN BUTTE COUNTY, CALIF. 75 miles north of Sacramento. The land lies one and a half miles along Feather River, one of the largest rivers in California, and thence westerly from the Feather River, through the end of the land lies one and a half miles to the town of Biggs; the central part lies within three miles of the flourishing town of Gridley. Both towns are on the California and Oregon Railroad, the through line from San Francisco to Portland, Oregon.

The county road from Gridley to Oroville passes through the land. It is an exceedingly rich alluvial soil, capable of a very high state of cultivation. It can be irrigated from the Feather River, although irrigation is not necessary, as crops without irrigation have been raised successfully for twenty-five years. There are 20 acres of low hill land, which is most excellent soil for vines. The land is well timbered with huge white oaks, one oak in particular measuring thirty-six feet in circumference four feet from the ground.

The wood alone is very valuable, it being estimated that if cut into cordwood it could be readily sold for the total sum of $40,000.

The land is cultivated and produces thirty-five bushels of wheat, of sixteen acres, to the acre, and fifty bushels of barley. It will raise without irrigation eight tons of alfalfa to the acre. The land is within the citrus belt, and all kinds of citrus and deciduous fruits do well.

This is the best fruit land in the State of California and should be devoted to that purpose. There is a two-story house, also barns and outbuildings on the place as well as two small orchards.

The total yield this year from this place in grain, fruit and pasture has been about $40,000. The owners have realized from this place about $10,000 this year. It is well for cutting up into small tracts. It can be cut into 80-acre tracts, which will sell readily at $100 per acre. If colonized and cut into smaller tracts we believe it could be sold for double that amount.

This perfect-confirmed Spanish grant of 30 years. This property is for sale at $16,000; one-third cash, balance on time, 10 years at 8 per cent.

Similar land in this vicinity is rated at $100 per acre.

The Origin of Salt.

This world was once a bare field of light, as the poets and the men of science agree in informing us. As soon as it began to cool down a little the heavier materials naturally sank toward the center, while the lighter, now represented by the ocean and the atmosphere, floated in a gaseous condition on the outside. But the great envelope of vapor thus produced did not consist merely of the constituents of air and water; immense quantities of salt mingled with them, as they still do to a far less extent in our existing atmosphere. By and by, as the cooling and condensing process continued, the water settled down from the condition of steam into one of a liquid, and the salt, which had been carried down with it, was entirely separated from the water, and the other substances, held in solution, whose component elements had previously existed in the primitive gaseous atmosphere. Thus the early ocean which covered the whole earth was in all probability not only very brackish, but also very rich in mineral matters close up to the point of saturation. It was full of lime and raw flint, and sulphates and many other miscellaneous bodies. Moreover, it was not only just as salt as the present day, but even brackish, and it was from that time to this, evaporating, and constantly being going in certain shallow isolated areas, laying down great beds of gypsum and then of salt, which still remain in the solid condition, while the water has, of course, been correspondingly purified. The same thing has likewise happened in a slightly different way with lime and flint, which have been separated from the water chiefly by living animals, and afterward deposited on the bottom of the ocean in immense layers, as lime-stone, chalk, sandstone, and clay. Thus it turns out that in the end all our sources of salt supply are alike ultimately derived from the briny ocean. Whether we dig it out as solid rock salt from the open quarries of the Punjab, or pump it up from the briny wells under the brackish rocks of Cheshire, or evaporate it direct in the salt pans of England and the shallow salines of the Mediterranean shore, it is still at bottom essentially sea salt. However distant the connection may seem, our salt is always the last resort of the briny ocean, the material held in solution in some ancient or modern sea. Even the saline springs of Canada and the northern States of America, where the water love to congregate, and the noble hunter lures the thicket to the last resort of the briny ocean, their salience, as an able Canadian geologist has shown, from the thin scattered salts still retained among the sediments of that very archaic sea whose precipitates form the earliest known life-bearing rocks. To the Homeric Greek, as to Mr. Dick Swirell, the ocean was always the briny; to modern science, on the other hand (which neither of those worthies would probably have appreciated at its own valuation), the briny is always oceanic. The fossil food which we find to-day on all our dinner tables, the briny, is the origin primarily to the first seas that ever covered the surface of our planet, and secondarily to the great rock deposits of the dried-up triassic inland sea. And yet even our men of science habitually describe that ancient mineral as common salt.—(Exchange.)

Give Them a Chance!

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery this. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them. When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well. Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family ailments of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is but one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boscovich's German Cure, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed us, you may depend upon it.

THE COLONEL'S IDEA OF A DUEL.

Old Col. Smith was an odd genius and a great joker. One evening, at a party, a young gentleman, upon whom the colonel had taken a fancy, challenged the colonel to a mortal combat. The challenge was accepted. Having the choice of weapons, the colonel told the young man to repair the following morning at six o'clock to a certain spot, and added "that he would see that the weapons were there." The following morning, at the appointed time, the young man repaired to the identical spot; said spot being among the lead mines, was naturally furrowed with mineral holes. "Well, sir," said the colonel, sticking his hands in his pockets, "are you ready?" Receiving an affirmative answer, he continued: "Here's where we are to fight," indicating a mineral shaft near by, which was at least sixty feet deep, and here's our weapons," pointing to a pile of rocks. "You are to go down that hole and throw rocks up; I'm to stay up here and throw rocks down." It is needless to add that the challenge was withdrawn.—(The Argonaut.)

Lifting the Hat.

In the good old days, when "society" didn't depend on the height of a man's shirt collar or the scarcity of cloth in his pants, or the drawl in his articulation, there was something stately and commanding in the manner of lifting the hat when the lady gave the signal for recognition. It was a thing to be proud of, and which had to be well executed to make the other effectual. It was a sure index to a gentleman, for I never knew a vulgar man to acquire the art of lifting his hat gracefully. But this seems to have been obliterated by the coming generation in pants. The thing now is to grab the rim of the hat in front with the same celerity you would grab for a seat in a street-car. Having clutched the right spot, you jerk the hat down as if you were trying to hide your face—a man who will take off his hat in this way is bound to hide his face—then you jerk the hat up and down your front, taking care not to go below the belt, very quickly as if you were trying to ally irritation. When the hat gets back to its place you grin like a monkey; one grin is all that is required to show that this time the lady has passed and if she is a sensible woman it is her turn to grin.—(Chicago Herald.)
